RULE 4.107 - Fees

- a) Application fee - A sending state may impose a fee for each transfer application prepared for an offender.
- b) Supervision fee -
 - 1) A receiving state may impose a reasonable supervision fee on an offender whom the state accepts for supervision, which shall not be greater than the fee charged to the state's own offenders.
 - 2) A sending state shall not impose a supervision fee on an offender whose supervision has been transferred to a receiving state.

Subsection (b) (1) of this rule allows a receiving state to impose a reasonable supervision fee on an offender once they accept a case for supervision. This supervision fee cannot be imposed prior to acceptance or during the time an offender is reporting to the receiving state on approved reporting instructions.

Once a case is accepted by a receiving state, the sending state must cease the assessment of their supervision fee on the offender.
